

Donny

by Jimmy Tee

Donny is the type of guy who sticks his finger in your eye and if your gone, if your not there he'll stick his finger anywhere

Donny says, "now your face sits deep inside my database.
Its a surveillance state status quo for you lost your identity long ago"

Donny thought its never too late to loudly grandly pontificate on matters no one can really see and a shovel full of audacity

Donny gathered a faithful crowd that wasn't afraid to shout aloud "bring us the heads of the political elite" Donny said "Its easy as a Tweet"

Donny built a glass brick tower with a name that bespoke power and an endless asymmetry writ by lawyers for eternity

Donny was no where near the first to stuff his ego as well as his purse but the bitter the vintage the bitter the wine and the lies in the teller as well as the line

Fighting Donny will never yield he learned that in his chosen field if property is theft then he is the heavy weight champ of thievery

Donny leers and picks a fight at each imaginary slight to hear him talk he has no friends but the means to his own ends Donny says "just wait and see you'll soon tire of victory" an argument that can't be won since it started with a losing one Backstage, Donny cried "oh lawd!

All these models just ask to be pawed.
Let go honey," as he headed downstairs grabbing her by some very short hairs

Donny is not much a thinker selling hook, selling line, selling sinker for underneath that hairy nest is a sparrow fart, thats overdressed

Donny bought some real estate and told the world "ain't it great!
My name in gold for all to see" until its time for bankruptcy

Donny hails from New York City eight million souls but not much pity its dog eat dog eat dog eat meat in flashy towers built indiscrete

Donny wails "I am the Boss and you are losers that lost Now is the time and I am the truth You should pay more attention in the voting booth"